

Reenactment Suppliers

This is a list of some of my favorite reenactment suppliers. I'm focusing on places that are less well-known— no Raymond's Quiet Press, Tudor Tailor, Boots by Bohemond, etc. A mix of places in the states and places in the UK and Europe, and operating at a high level of accuracy.

(Shoes, custom available)

<https://www.naturtuche.de/?lang=en>
(Fabrics, nice, plain wools. A little costly)

<https://www.thehistoricalfabricstore.com/>
(Beautiful wools and lovely reproduction medieval silk brocades)

<http://www.lorifactor.com/>
(Misc, lots of belts and findings. I have one of their custom belts and it is lovely)

(Custom woven fabric to match archeological finds from different periods)

<http://www.aurifabrum.com/>
(Misc metal and jewelry, very inexpensive)

<https://todcutler.com/collections>
(Well-made, lovely metal things including knives, aglets, buttons, and belt parts)

<https://www.pallia.net/en/shop>
(Threads for sewing, embroidery, and netting. Reproduction spindle whorls and distaffs)

<https://www.etsy.com/shop/feedtheravens>
(Norse and Rus bits and bobs, mostly beads and metal pieces)

<https://www.etsy.com/shop/irenedavis1>
(Metal things, including thimbles, spindle whorls, and pins)

<http://historicalglassworks.com/>
(ALL THE GLASS THINGS)

<http://krohnskrukmakeri.qbutik.se/>
(Lovely Swedish authentic ceramics)

<https://www.lionheartreplicas.co.uk/default.aspx>
(Pewter things, a wide range of buttons)

<http://www.die-hafnerin.de/schnappchen-und-restposten-2/>
(Ceramics made after archeological finds. Website is in German)

<https://www.burnleyandtrowbridge.com/>
(Sewing supplies designed for 18th C reenactment, but much is relevant to earlier periods)

<https://www.whaleys-bradford.ltd.uk/>
(Kind of the UK version of Dharma, but with a greater range and higher prices. Their ramie comes highly recommended for ruffs, by Constance MacKenzie)

Reenactment Suppliers

<https://www.sartor.cz/44-historical-textiles>

(Reproduction period brocades and silks. Based on extant pieces)

<http://www.pewterreplicas.com/>

(Metal things, beautiful reproduction jewelry at reasonable prices)

<https://www.etsy.com/shop/MadJeweler>

(I'm biased, because we're friends, but Laurie makes lovely things at good prices)

<https://www.etsy.com/shop/Volundr?>

(Metal things, both Viking and early medieval)

<https://www.etsy.com/shop/AriadneKordella?>

(Tablet weaving, has Birka repros as well as 14th and 15th C replicas)

<https://www.etsy.com/shop/TinselTrading?>

(My favorite source for trims! Beautiful antique metallic trims at not-awful prices. If you are doing something fancy this is the place to go)

<http://tiedtohistory.com/>

(Goldwork supplies, lovely aglets, nice linen. She also offers hand-woven ribbons and trims)

<https://www.etsy.com/shop/WenPearls?>

(Pearls at very good prices. They come from China so it's not clear how ethical they are)
